“Making a Will is an effective way of offering long term protection to your family and assets.”

Wills

We know that many people are reluctant to make Wills, and our goal is to make the preparation of your Will as friendly and clear as possible. We help you to find the best solution for documenting your wishes, for example, we can advise you with regard to the use of Trusts in Wills as part of Inheritance Tax Planning, both to minimise tax liabilities and as a way of controlling what happens to wealth and property after death.

Whether you wish to leave your estate to your spouse, children, friends or charity, our solicitors can prepare a Will that meets your precise needs.

We are aware that many people wish for a copy of their Will to be kept in a safe place – we are able to store your signed Will for you if you wish and give you a full copy to retain.

Legal Services for the Elderly

We have a dedicated team that specialises in the needs of elderly clients, which includes visiting the client at home to discuss his/her affairs. For example, we can prepare Powers of Attorney to assist with your general affairs, including advice regarding the role of an Attorney or help with a property sale and a move into full-time care if this becomes necessary. Our specialist staff can arrange for a member of our team to visit you at home to discuss the management of your affairs. If you fear losing control of your assets as you grow older, we can assist you by discussing the preparation of a

Lasting Power of Attorney for you so that someone you trust will always be safeguarding your assets. We will then work side by side with you or your designated Attorney to provide for your best interests. How we work

We offer practical commercial guidance to all businesses we work with, advice based on an intimate understanding of the ever-changing commercial law landscape and the realities of the commercial world. To mirror our client activities we categorise our business as follows: Company Formations & Limited Liability Partnerships, Mergers & Acquisitions, Employment Law, Commercial Property and Litigation. All of these disciplines are an expertise in their own right; however they are all complementary and we manage them all under one roof for your benefit.

Company Formations & Limited Liability Partnerships

Setting up a new business can be daunting and sometimes dilutes the enthusiasm of the new venture. Our job is to facilitate the smooth inception of your business, helping to choose the right path and then getting you started. We have a wealth of experience in setting up Limited Companies, Partnerships or Sole Trader arrangements.

It is often said that red tape and regulation prevent businesses from growing. We see our job as helping you manage your way through these complexities to let you concentrate on the essential task of securing what you have and developing it. Examples of our services include: share issues, terms and conditions of business, distribution/agency agreements, joint venture and shareholder agreements. Please feel free to contact us by phone or email at any time to discuss your precise needs.

Mergers & Acquisitions

Stone Rowe Brewer LLP have established an excellent reputation for helping our clients in the delicate business of merging/acquiring or being acquired by a third party. This is possibly the most significant decision your business will face following initial set up: the moment at which you realise maximum value from your hard work and effort. Our job is to consult with you and make it happen smoothly. Led by John Andrews, the team can help you through every stage of the process, from initial financing to Transfer of Undertakings and final contracts.

We pride ourselves on the quality and the speed of our service and we strive to ensure that a fair result is achieved for our clients. To this end, our litigators are experienced in negotiation and Alternative Dispute Resolution, as we try to minimise the costs of litigation wherever possible.

- Contract disputes
- Money disputes

- Professional Negligence (claims and defence)
- Civil disputes
- Landlord and Tenant matters
- Defamation and libel cases

Employment Law

This area of running a business is, debatably, the most complex and the one which gives more cause for concern than any other amongst employers. Employment Law is complex and constantly changing. The consequences of getting on the wrong side of it are potentially very damaging and expensive, illustrated all too well by high profile sex discrimination cases. We offer services for both the Employer and the Employee.

For an employer

One of the most important assets of any business is its people. For this reason it is vital for a business to have the correct employment procedures in place, so that hiring employees is a straight-forward procedure. We take the worry out of employment contracts, drafting terms for our business clients that are clear, precise and fit the needs of business. We further explain the growing impact of EU legislation on the workplace and advise you how best to implement your needs within this framework.

Should it be necessary for you to restructure your business, or part ways with your staff, we will help you through the process, advise you on what consultation you should undertake and which procedures to follow. We endeavour to make the process as smooth as it can be.

Should you be accused of discrimination, on any grounds, or unfair or wrongful dismissal, our team will advise you of the relevant law and its ramifications, as well as suggesting the best solution for you. Our team can advise on:

- Employment contracts
- Director's contracts and bonuses
- Share options
- Termination of employment
- The effects of a takeover/sale of the business
- Communication with your employees
- Procedures required by law
- Compromise agreements

For an employee

Your relationship with your employer is as important to us as it is to you. We recognise that a special trust exists between an employer and their employees and that, when there is a breakdown in this trust, matters need to be dealt with quickly, sensitively and professionally.

Should the nature of your employment change unexpectedly, either by a merger, takeover or the requirements of your job itself changing, we will provide you with fast, professional advice on the effect of this and the options open to you.

Should your employment be terminated prematurely, we will check that all the necessary procedures have been followed and will advise you on whether or not you are entitled to compensation (under your contract of employment or under statute).

Discrimination in the workplace, whether sexual, racial, religious or by way of a disability, is unlawful. We will make you fully aware of your rights and will advise you on achieving the best solution for you. We can advise you on:

- The disciplinary and grievance procedures
- Unfair and wrongful dismissal
- Discrimination
- Redundancy
- Rights upon change of employer
- Changes to your employment contract
- Settlements with your employer under a compromise agreement

“We understand the importance of fighting fearlessly to achieve the best possible outcome and to ensure the highest quality medical care and rehabilitation.”

Personal Injury

Our highly experienced team of lawyers, accredited by the Association of Personal Injury Lawyers (APIL), will deal directly with your situation and always try to ensure that you receive the correct care and compensation that your circumstances deserve. Whether your injury is sustained as a result of tripping on a Council pavement or as a result of medical negligence, our expert team of lawyers will guide you through the process and ensure that your case is resolved with your welfare as our paramount concern.

Accidental Injury

Accidents happen which sometimes lead to physical or mental injuries. We have been helping our clients with such genuine claims for many years, well before the advent of the commonly seen TV adverts. Our experience will help you to achieve a satisfactory outcome to your claim in a well managed and informed manner. Whether your claim is as a result of a road traffic accident or a public liability issue, we will advise honestly and purposefully on your rights, the way forward and then pursue your claim.

We often conduct these claims on a no win, no fee basis either pursuant to a Conditional Fee Agreement (CFA) or a Damages Based Agreement (DBA) with appropriate insurance arrangements in support. We would be delighted to answer any questions you may have.

Work Related Injury & Illness

In a working life many people are exposed to occupational hazards and, in some cases, these sadly lead to a debilitating illness or loss of function which could and should have been avoidable. At Stone Rowe Brewer LLP we have a huge amount of experience and expertise in dealing with illnesses such as mesothelioma (related to asbestos), pleural thickening and pleural plaques, as well as vibration white finger and noise-induced hearing loss.

These can be lengthy and complex cases and you need to work with a solicitor with the experience and knowledge to pursue your claim vigorously. We offer you an initial free consultation to look at your circumstances and discuss the best way forward.

Clinical Negligence

This is a highly specialised area of personal injury work – one in which we have established an excellent reputation.

Our clients place an enormous amount of trust in their medical advisers and the majority of the time they receive the right advice, treatment and care. Sadly, however, they sometimes get it wrong and this can have a devastating impact on people's lives. This harm can be as a result of negligence, misdiagnosis, substandard treatment or care or due to defective products, such as stents and implants. In the last two years alone we have worked on many diverse cases, such as the failure of an A&E department to correctly deal with a diabetic patient's infection resulting in the unnecessary amputation of a limb, to an Optometrist who failed to refer a patient for a specialist consultation, and in so doing, failed to deal correctly with a very serious illness.

Our expertise, from the first free consultation, will be used to help lead you through the myriad difficulties of such cases to a position where you feel that you are 100% satisfied with the outcome. Such cases can take many months or longer to resolve and you can be assured of the continuity of our attention and diligence.

Criminal Injury

In any given year there are a number of people who incur injuries as a result of criminal activity. Whilst very often there is little or no prospect of redress from the perpetrator, there is a government scheme to help victims in many ways, including financial compensation.

At Stone Rowe Brewer LLP we have dealt with a number of such instances and have considerable expertise in working with the Criminal Injuries Compensation Authority. You can be certain that, as with all other elements of our Personal Injury work, we will work in an empathetic and professional manner to try and seek swift and proper settlement of your claim.

“You came recommended as the ‘best solicitors in the area’ and you certainly lived up to that reputation!”
